

Natural avalanche (bison trigger?) in YNP near Cooke

Out of Advisory Area

3/5/2021

Code

Notes

From obs: 3/6/21: "Observed several smallish avalanches in Yellowstone National Park today. The interesting thing about this one is the bison track that goes into the slide. No telling if the avalanche was triggered by the bison, but the shallow snowpack is about 1/2 faceted, so maybe it was remotely triggered. Resulting in a grizzly springtime snack??"

Number of slides

1

Number caught

0

Number buried

0

Images

Bison tracks and avalanche in YNP

Slab Thickness units

centimeters

Single / Multiple / Red Flag

Single Avalanche

Advisory Year

20-21